Orlando Davidson, former Claremont resident and CMC alum is coming to the Claremont Helen Renwick Library to introduce his new book, “North of Foothill” which is set in our neighboring cities. The narrator is again Police Detective Jimmy Sommes. When shots ring out from behind the stage of a Cucamonga music club on a spring night in 1974, Jimmy, off-duty, who is just there to hear some country rock, suddenly finds himself heading toward danger. With his cop buddy, Carol, they run down the leads until they get to the bottom of it.

Davidson will speak about his book and read some from the manuscript. The book will be released in March, 2026. It can be pre-ordered through Amazon, Barnes and Noble, and Bookshop.org. His first book, “Baseline Road” is available to check out from the library, and for purchase online as well.
